March

Daylight Savings Time

Daylight Saving Time has been used in the U.S. and in many European countries since World War I. At that time, in an effort to conserve fuel needed to produce electric power, Germany and Austria took time by the forelock, and began saving daylight at 11:00 p.m. on April 30, 1916, by advancing the hands of the clock one hour until the following October. Other countries immediately adopted this 1916 action: Belgium, Denmark, France, Italy, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Sweden, Turkey, and Tasmania. Nova Scotia and Manitoba adopted it as well, with Britain following suit three weeks later, on May 21, 1916. In 1917, Australia and Newfoundland began saving daylight.

The plan was not formally adopted in the U.S. until 1918. 'An Act to preserve daylight and provide standard time for the United States' was enacted on March 19, 1918. It both established standard time zones and set summer DST to begin on March 31, 1918. Daylight Saving Time was observed for seven months in 1918 and 1919. After the War ended, the law proved so unpopular (mostly because people rose earlier and went to bed earlier than people do today) that it was repealed in 1919 with a Congressional override of President Wilson's veto. Daylight Saving Time became a local option, and was continued in a few states, such as Massachusetts and Rhode Island, and in some cities, such as New York, Philadelphia, and Chicago.

During World War II, President Franklin Roosevelt instituted year-round Daylight Saving Time, called "War Time," from February 9, 1942 to September 30, 1945. From 1945 to 1966, there was no federal law regarding Daylight Saving Time, so states and localities were free to choose whether or not to observe Daylight Saving Time and could choose when it began and ended. This understandably caused confusion, especially for the broadcasting industry, as well as for railways, airlines, and bus companies. Because of the different local customs and laws, radio and TV stations and the transportation companies had to publish new schedules every time a state or town began or ended Daylight Saving Time.

On January 4, 1974, President Nixon signed into law the Emergency Daylight Saving Time Energy Conservation Act of 1973. Then, beginning on January 6, 1974, implementing the Daylight Saving Time Energy Act, clocks were set ahead. On October 5, 1974, Congress amended the Act, and Standard Time returned on October 27, 1974. Daylight Saving Time resumed on February 23, 1975 and ended on October 26, 1975.

By 1966, some 100 million Americans were observing Daylight Saving Time based on their local laws and customs. Congress decided to step in and end the confusion, and to establish one pattern across the country. The Uniform Time Act of 1966 (15 U.S. Code Section 260a), signed into Public Law 89-387 on April 12, 1966, by President Lyndon Johnson, created Daylight Saving Time to begin on the last Sunday of April and to end on the last Sunday of October. Any State that wanted to be exempt from daylight Saving Time could do so by passing a state law.

The Uniform Time Act of 1966 established a system of uniform (within each time zone) Daylight Saving Time throughout the U.S. and its possessions, exempting only those states in which the legislatures voted to keep the entire state on standard time.

The Energy Policy Act of 2005 extended Daylight Saving Time in the U.S. beginning in 2007, though Congress retained the right to revert to the 1986 law should the change prove unpopular or if energy savings are not significant. Going from 2007 forward, Daylight Saving Time in the U.S.—begins at 2:00 a.m. on the second Sunday of March and ends at 2:00 a.m. on the first Sunday of November.

Memories of Hoge Memorial - by Nancy Loik

Thank you to the Precious Few February 11, 2019

Yesterday I received my copy of the Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Church's 2018 Annual Report. Probably for the first time in my life, I sat for an hour and a half reading it carefully from front to back. I realize most of you do not have much uninterrupted time in your lives but please try to read the report. I never did it when I was a 'worker' as you are. Oh, I read what I had written for committees, and have looked at it more since Joy has used pictures, but I hadn't ever before read it thoroughly. Do you members and volunteers realize how much you are accomplishing, and how many people you are helping? The ratio of doers to receivers will shock you! How many times do your names appear on different pages of the report?

The church has about the same number of volunteers and member workers as when the congregation was much larger. Yet as the number of members has decreased, we are serving more people. How much so few of you do! A precious few always have done the work, but there were more who attended the church then. It may not have been so apparent. I have been writing of the past. You are the present dedicated few. Bless you all!

Back to the Past

When I was first active at Hoge, the church's focus was primarily our large congregation. Study classes were larger. We still served the community but not in the great numbers as now. We had a food pantry. Members delivered groceries to those who requested it. Often older church members did this. They climbed stairs and found people more able than themselves waiting for help. There were no government regulations as there are on our current pantry. I am not sure if there was a food bank at that time.

When Alex retired, he and I would take light lunches to the church and share with the church staff (Mr. Klee, Helen and Tony). We shared their lunch hour. There was a Ministerial Association on the Hilltop. All of the religious leaders belonged. They met one day a month for lunch at different churches. When it was time to come to Hoge, Mr. Klee asked my husband and me to prepare the lunch. Alex made his famous bean soup and I made pies. We did not eat with the clergy. This was a special time for them to share interests and become friends. This fellowship broke barriers. Several times during the year the ministers who wished would trade pulpits on Sunday. Mr. Klee participated in this event.

There was a cooperation with St. Aloysius Church. They served a Thanksgiving dinner and some of our women helped prepare, served the food and became friends with other women there. Two of the Hoge members who helped were Catherine Zulauf and Marge Kennedy. I'm sure there were others but I don't remember who they were. When Catherine's husband died the friends she had made at St. Aloysius brought food and helped. At Mr. Kennedy's funeral at St. Aloysius, our pastor, Jim Arnot, sang and the priest introduced him from the altar. As a side note: Marge's daughter's always helped at our fall sales.

Next Month I'll get back to the Presbyterian Women at Hoge.

Season of Lent begins with Ash Wednesday, March 6

Ash Wednesday, March 6, is the beginning of Lent. While Hoge will not be holding an Ash Wednesday service, we do encourage people to attend a service at another church. Many attend services at either Westminster or Covenant Presbyterian Churches.

We will be having our soup and service program on Wednesday evenings during Lent. We will be focusing the Bible study, What If Jesus Had Never Been Born? by D. James Kennedy and Jerry Newcombe. The meals and program begin at 6:00 pm in Wold Hall.

Plan to attend and participate! Volunteers are being sought for hosting the soup and meal (March 13, 20, 27 and April 3, 10).

Make old jewelery into fridge magnets. Don't throw away broken brooches, stick a magnet onto the back of them to turn them into stylish ways to pin up the kids' artwork. Add personality to your table. Have a piece of safety glass cut to your table's size. Then tuck photos, postcards, or printed fabric underneath. Disguise what you can't replace. Cover a sofa, lay a rug over that stained carpet, or use fabric to screen an unpleasant view until you can afford to replace it. Spray paint photo frames. Pick up some cheap photo frames from charity shops, the more mismatched the better, and spray paint them all the same colour. Neon colours are very on trend at the moment. Find charity shop gems and paint them white. You'll be surprised what difference a lick of paint can do to charity shop treasures. Don't disregard old ornaments that look like they belong in your grandmother's home. Transform them with white or black paint to look stylish and modern. Animal figures work particularly well for this and are on trend this season.
